Richard J. Ebbinghouse
Tax Problem Solver and Attorney

Rick was born in Richmond, Indiana; he is an Eagle Scout, President of the Year, Junior Achievement Eastern Indiana, 1970 and the first lawyer in a family that predominately has worked in the medical profession. He served as the Chairman of the Board of Directors, Community Grief Support Service in Birmingham, Alabama from 1999-2001, and continued to serve on the Board as Development Committee Chairman until 2011; he has been the Treasurer of the Alabama Council on Human Relations from 1978 to the present; and was active at the Cathedral Church of the Advent (Episcopal) where he was active in the Healing Ministry, Grief Support, and Small Group Leader leading a Bible and religious study group from 2001 until 2011 and helped with the Alpha Course, leading it numerous times.

Rick graduated from Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio in 1974 where he majored in economics and business administration.

He graduated from Cumberland School of Law, cum laude, June, 1977; top 15% of class. Since graduating, he has spent most of his career litigating in federal court, both in trials and appeals. He began his legal career in Selma, Alabama at Legal Services Corporation of Alabama. He was responsible for two major class actions: a civil rights housing case and a consumer home improvement case. In 1980, Rick moved to Tuscaloosa, Alabama to help open that office. He was the Senior Staff Attorney, supervising twelve attorneys. He resigned the Senior Staff Attorney title to devote more time to complex litigation and training in June, 1982. From 1984 – 1988 Rick had a solo practice in Birmingham, Alabama with an emphasis in litigation.

From 1988 – 2011, Rick was a member of Wiggins, Childs, Quinn & Pantazis, LLC, a large Birmingham, Alabama firm that focuses on litigation, including large class actions. He litigated both individual and class actions.

He joined his brother, Tom, in 2011 at Ebbinghouse Law Group, LLC.

Rick is admitted to practice law in both Indiana and Alabama; numerous federal courts; the U.S. Supreme Court; and the U.S. Tax Court. He has litigated appellate cases in the Fifth Circuit (New Orleans); the Sixth Circuit (Cincinnati) and the Eleventh Circuit (Atlanta) Courts of Appeals as well as the United States Supreme Court. He is AV Peer Rated (highest level of professional excellence "very high to preeminent") in Martindale-Hubbell. He is also a member of the American Society of Tax Problem Solvers.

In his spare time, Rick enjoys his three Pit Bull rescue dogs.
